

This material is part of a collection that documents the harassment, discrimination, and retaliation perpetrated against Alaska's women research scientists by their supervisor, with full knowledge (and arguably, "tacit approval") of their federal employer, the USDA Agricultural Research Service (ARS)

Hmmmm, I wonder if I qualify as "diversity" now that I'm the last woman research scientist still working in SARU? I could show EEO documents and explain to everyone how ARS has the art of discrimination down to a science. When I'm gone, I wonder if they'll do a write-up in the little glossy ARS magazine, describing ARS's phenomenal success in gender-cleansing in Alaska.

Greetings,

First Friday of the month is upon us! So that means First Monday is right around the corner, May 3rd.

Do I have any volunteers to "host" First Monday spotlighting your heritage or diversity?

Let me know. Thanks!
