This material is part of a collection that documents the harassment, discrimination, and retaliation Annual Appraisal (Review)
11/14/09 4:32 PM perpetrated against Alaska's women research scientists by their supervisor, with full knowledge (and arguably, "tacit approval") of their federal employer, the USDA Agricultural Research Service (ARS)

From: "Bower, Cindy" < Cindy. Bower@ars.usda.gov>

Subject: Annual Appraisal (Review)
Date: Thu, November 12, 2009 4:57 pm

To: "Pantoja, Alberto" <Alberto.Pantoja@ARS.USDA.GOV>Cc: "Contento, Janis" <Janis.Contento@ARS.USDA.GOV>

Alberto,

This is to recount our conversation during my annual appraisal with Janis Contento in attendance (11/12/09 at 4:00pm):

- You served as Rating Official and rated me as not exceeding in Element 3.
- You stated that the rating was a direct result of my having violated my technician's performance plan by allowing her to be a co-author on my papers
- I disagreed by pointing out that I was fulfilling Element 3 (a "critical" element) of my own performance plan that states: "Facilitates training and development of supervised employees".
- Since no list describing the limits of "training and development" was provided at our 9/25/09 (08:00am) meeting, I assumed that allowing my technician the "option" of serving as a co-author was not forbidden, as long as I filled out the justification paperwork (which I did).

Naturally, I regard this as retaliation against me for opposing discrimination in this unit.

I also would like to point out (as I have done every year since filing an EEO complaint) that it was a clear case of Conflict of Interest for you (a respondent in my EEO complaint) to serve as the Rating official on my annual appraisal, since retaliation against me would be a predictable outcome.

If you disagree, I welcome an explanations for your actions.

Cindy

Attachments:

untitled-[2]
Size:	2.2 k
Type:	text/html